

Special Poll on Cocoa Prices, Electoral Commissioners and the Special Prosecutor

25th February 2026

Summary of Findings

- ❑ A new poll by Global InfoAnalytics following announcement of price cuts to cocoa prices shows that 44% of voters believe the new prices offered by the government is fair, 31% said it is unfair while 26% were neutral.
- ❑ However, in what may be a surprise to many, the poll shows that majority of cocoa farmers, 56%, believe the price is fair, while 11% say it is unfair and 33% were neutral.
- ❑ Analysis of the poll by regions shows that a slim majority of voters in Ahafo, Ashanti, Bono, Greater Accra, Northern and Western North believe the price is unfair with the Western North registering the largest displeasure with a whopping 62% say it is unfair.
- ❑ On party lines, while 53% of NPP voters believe it is unfair, only 14% of NDC voters believe it is unfair and 29% of floating voters believe it is unfair.
- ❑ However, 24% of NPP voters believe it is fair, 61% of NDC voters believe it is fair and 42% of floating voters also believe it is fair.

Summary of Findings

- ❑ On the petitions to the president to dismiss the Jean Mensa, the Chair of the Electoral Commission and her deputy, Dr Bossman Asare, the Deputy Chair of the Commission, 47% of voters agree with the decision by the Chief Justice who found no justification to proceed with the process to remove the pair. 30% of voters however disagree while 23% did not have an opinion.
- ❑ The poll also revealed that majority of voters across all parties agree with the Chief Justice decision. 39% of NPP voters agree with the decision while 59% of NDC voters also agree, contrary to what some of their party leaders have advocated. 48% of floating voters also agree with the decision.
- ❑ On the Chief Justice decision on Mr Kissi Agyebeng, the Special Prosecutor, the poll shows 48% of voters in support of the Chief Justice's conclusion not to proceed with impeachment process as there is no case to answer. 27% of voters disagree while 25% did not have an opinion.
- ❑ Again, on the party lines, 43% of NPP voters agree with the decision while 61% of NDC voters also agree and 47% of floating voters also agree with the decision.
